VE Day

VE Day (also known as victory in Europe day) happened on the 8th of may 1945 , the reason for always celebrating on the 8th of may is because of the surrender of the nzais and everyone was so pleased they threw street party's. I'm going to throw a party but we're in isolation so it's going to be just me and everyone in the house, yay! This year in 2020 it will be 75 years since VE Day. On the 1st VE day they listened to Winston Churchill (the prime minister) do his speech after that they would go outside and have a tea party with their loved ones that were in the war. They would have cakes, puddings ,teas ,cupcakes, scones ,sausage rolls and ice cream. They would put up the union jack or a ve day poster . They would have the party's out in the streets for everyone to have a bite, to celebrate our victory. I have a great aunt that was in the war and celebrated with everyone else she would have been 17 or 18 at the time.
