

EPIC JOURNEYS

AN EPIC ISLAND VOYAGE!

Saturday 19th May 2009

Hello Diary,

Have you ever been sea sick? I haven't until now but I am feeling okay now. I haven't told you where I am. I am in a massive ship named the Unicorn. Why, you ask. My friends and I, correction my friends, are determined to find an island but I don't think we are going to find one. My dad used to say that if you go too far down you will fall off Earth, but now I know that it isn't true. I have travelled to the Atlantic before and hadn't fallen off. Anyway, I am just happy to be with my friends. I should better stop now before my friends say that I am not helping. More updates tomorrow.

Hi,

I am getting really bored. Even though my hopes are almost dead my friends hope is just accumulating every second! There isn't even a tv. My friends said that we are not even allowed to take phones because it apparently takes too much space but I think my friends lied to me so that they would have my full attention. It is absolutely ridiculous. All the entertainment that I am allowed is this diary. Anyway, my friends said that we should do a small vote today night to determine whether we should turn around and go home or keep going. I bet by now that you know which one that I am going to choose. I better have my dinner now before it becomes cold.

Hi again,

One of my friends has just spotted a previously unknown island!!

I can't believe my eyes. We were so close to giving up and leaving back. I am so excited now and seem I was totally wrong about this being a boring voyage. I need to go now. I'll fill you in with more details of the island tomorrow.

Hello diary,

As soon as I entered the island, it was so quiet that you could even hear a pin dropping. It was really big. We almost got lost. My friends were rejoicing. We had a campfire and explored the island and saw an abandoned hut. We also saw goats and other common creatures but one took my attention, it was a box jellyfish, luckily no one got stung. We then retired the day with a delicious meal that consisted of fish sea weed and rice. It is a very weird combination but tasty. We have decided to call the island Motraeus. It is probably time for me to hit the sack. I will write to you tomorrow.
